

AAR Mahaveer Engineering College Sanctioned New NSS Unit for the Academic Year 2026–2027

Hyderabad: AAR Mahaveer Engineering College has achieved another significant milestone with the sanction of a new National Service Scheme (NSS) Unit under Jawaharlal Nehru Technological University Hyderabad (JNTUH) for the academic year 2026–2027.

The approval for the new NSS Unit was officially granted by JNTUH on 04-07-2026, recognizing the institution's commitment to promoting community service, social responsibility, and the holistic development of students.

Following the sanction, Mr. S. Sudhakara Reddy, Principal of AAR Mahaveer Engineering College, appointed Mr. P. Parishudda Rao, Assistant Professor, as the NSS Programme Coordinator for the newly sanctioned unit. An official appointment order has been issued by the Principal, entrusting him with the responsibility of planning and coordinating various NSS activities throughout the academic year.

The newly sanctioned NSS Unit will provide students with opportunities to actively participate in community service initiatives such as environmental awareness campaigns, health and hygiene programs, blood donation drives, rural development activities, literacy campaigns, and other social welfare programs. These activities will help students develop leadership skills, teamwork, discipline, and a strong sense of social responsibility.

The management, Principal, faculty members, and students expressed their sincere gratitude to JNTUH for sanctioning the new NSS Unit. The college remains committed to utilizing the NSS platform effectively to instill the spirit of selfless service and community engagement among its students while contributing meaningfully to society.

The sanction of the new NSS Unit marks another proud achievement for AAR Mahaveer Engineering College, further strengthening its mission of delivering quality education alongside social commitment and nation-building initiatives.
